Student Instructions

1. Structure of the Answer

Each 10-mark response should be treated as a mini-essay. Follow this standard structure:

- 1. Introduction: Define the key term or concept mentioned in the question (2–3 lines).
- 2. Theoretical Framework: Explain the core theory, law, or model clearly.
- 3. Main Body: Use bullet points or numbered lists to explain features, importance, or types. Avoid long, dense paragraphs.
- 4. Diagrammatic Representation: Essential for Economics. Always draw a neat, labeled diagram if the topic allows (e.g., PPC, Demand curves, Cost curves).
- 5. Conclusion/Managerial Significance: Briefly state how this concept helps a manager make better business decisions.

2. Space Management

- 1. Page Limit: 12-15 pages

3. Use of Visual Aids

- 1. Diagrams: Use a pencil and ruler for diagrams. Ensure the X and Y axes are correctly labeled (e.g., Price vs. Quantity, or Cost vs. Output).
- 2. Schedules: Where applicable (like the Law of Variable Proportions), provide a small numerical table (schedule) to support your explanation.
- 3. Flowcharts: For processes like "Decision Making" or "Types of Costs," use flowcharts.

4. Technical Precision

- 1. Economic Terminology: Use professional terms like Ceteris Paribus, Marginalism, Opportunity Cost, and Equilibrium.
- 2. Assumptions: For every "Law" (Demand, Variable Proportions, etc.), you must list at least 3–4 assumptions to get full marks.
